The Wino Club: Cleavage Creek

We don't typically promote one wine over any others and I have to admit that I only just ordered this wine and have not tasted it yet. But sometimes it just doesn't matter. Cleavage Creek Cellars in Napa, California, features a different survivor on every bottle of wine and donates 10% back to breast cancer issues. It's worth a taste just to know you can be socially responsible and drunk at the same time - love that!

Order your own Wino Club party kit and start your own wine tasting club with friends today. Let the good times pour!

About Us

The Wino Club
